SARATOGA HANDICAP. Water Light and Beldame Finish in the Money-Burgomaster Captures Flash Stakes for Whitney-Jimmy Lane's Steeplechase Four Favorites Succeed.

BANFORD'S HORSE TAKES THE

BARATOGA, July 31 .- Over a heavy track John Sanford's Caughnawaga, carrying 119 pounds, won the $10,000 Saratoga Handicap, ne mile and a quarter, this afternoon in the most impressive manner. He met a high class field, and with 6 to 1 about him he came home a majestic winner by three lengths in 2:07. Incidentally he was handled perfectly by Tommy Burns, who waited patiently with him until the head of the stretch was reached and then quickly rushed him past his an-tagonists, one by one, until he was the master of the situation, amid a wild demonstration from the enthusiastic crowd.

James B. Brady's three-year-old Water Light, also at 6 to 1, ran a great race, and standing a drive at the end he defeated August 7th. Hair Athol. 2. 112 Burna. 2-1 4-5

Good start; won easily: Blair Athol, b. c., 2, by Ben Strome—Roseleaf; owned by W. M. Sheftel; Belmont's Beldame, who was coupled with Lord of the Vale at 9 to 2, by half a length. H. P. Whitney's fleet mare Tanya and John A. Drake's Ort Wells, the top weight, were equal favorites at 4 to 1, but both were badly beaten. Tanys was a factor for nearly a mile, but weakened when the pressure was put on. Ort Wells dropped out of it quickly and was never a contender.

James R. Keene's lightly weighted Wild Mint, well played at 6 to 1, set a fast pace for a mile, to back up. Alan-a-Dale was practically left at the post, as he threw up his head when the barrier was sprung and lost so much ground that it was useless for Martin to make n attempt to overhaul the field.

Tanya, with Hildebrand up, was the first to break, but she quickly gave way to Wild Mint, who was taken to the front by McDaniel, who had received riding orders of this nature Waterlight, with Willie Knapp in the saddle. was also on the alert while Caughnawaga's stable mate, the five-year-old Molly was close behind. Then came Ort Wells. Beldame and Lord of the Vale, in a compact bunch, with Caughnawaga off last. Wild first half mile with Tanya second, four lengths before Waterlight, closely followed by Molly Brant, Ort Wells and Beldame. Caughnawaga was still the trailer, Burns having a firm hold on the reins, but ready to cut the old Clifford horse loose when the proper moment should arrive. It was still Wild Mint at the threequarter pole where the Keene colt led by hree parts of a length over Tanya. Waterlight had gained considerably on the Whit-ney mare by this time and was only a length behind her, while Molly Brant, Ort Wells and Beldame continued to maintain the same relative positions, with Caughnawaga

McDaniel cut Wild Mint loose at the mile post, and he opened up a gap of a length and half. Tanya, who was visibly affected by the strain, now dropped back in favor of Waterlight and Beldame, passing Molly rant and Ort Wells, rapidly overhauled Burns was now making his first real efforts with Caughnawaga who showed a great turn of speed as he moved up with rush that carried him past Ort Wells and ord of the Vale and placed him practically on even terms with Molly Brant. But even hen it did not seem possible for him to win and the crowd's eyes were glued upon Waterlight, who had run Wild Mint into the ground and looked the winner as he turned into the

As Wild Mint quit, Beldame passed him swiftly and became a formidable factor as she set sail for the Brady coit. It looked she set sail for the Brady coit. It looked then as if Waterlight and Beldame would fight it out, but a furioug from home Burns, who had been persevering with Caughrawaga, got up to the two leaders and assumed command while the crowd roared with approval, particularly for the reason that the Clifford horse had an army of followers on hand from the vicinity of Mr. Sanford's Hurricans stock farm. After that it was a royal triumph for Caughnawaga to the wire, where he received a long drawn out ovation. It was a heavy drive for the playe, O'Neill exitating the famous Beldame to the limit, the presument of the player, Waterlight the possibility of the player, with ort wells at least fifteen lengths away and Lord of the Vale next, eased up. The fractional time was 0.24 3-5, 0.49 2-5, 140 4-5 and 2.07. nd 2:07. H. P. Whitney's $20,000 Burgomaster, by Hamburg-Hurjburly, was victorious in the $6,000 Flash Stakes, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs. He went up in the betting to to 5, but he won like a 1 to 10 shot. Picking up 125 pounds, Burgomaster hung close to W. Zigeler's Penrhyn, the pacemaker, for up 125 pounds, Burgomaster hung close to H. M. Ziegler's Penrhyn, the pacemaker, for three furiongs, and then Hildebrand took him to the front for a breezing gallop to the wire, where he had an advantage of three lengths over R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s, Gallavant, who was off poorly and then ran to his best form. Gallavant was at 8 to 1, and took the place without being extended from F. R. Hitchcock's Vendor, a 15 to 1 shot. Vendor old his best and had to be ridden out to beat S. H. Franklin's Velour by a head. Burgomaster's time was 108 3-5.

The Ballston Steeplechase, at about two miles, afforded a big disappointment for those who made J. W. Colt's Castallian a 7 to 10 favorite. A half mile had been completed when Castalian, who was running easily, fell and burned up thousands. Mr. Colton's Jimmy Lane, 13 to 5, second choice, made all the running, but had to be ridden out in the last furlong to stall off the plucky rush of F. Ambrose Clark's Steelmaker, 12 to 1, Garter Knot, the only other starter, fell after going a mile. The race was run in 437 2-5. On the whole, this affair might be termed a flasco.

eil after going a mile. The race was find in 237 2-5. On the whole, this affair might be termed a flasco.

B. S. Brown's Broadcloth, a receding 2 to 1 favorite, was victorious in the first race, for blators, at 6 furlings. There were twelve starters, and though Broadcloth was away poorly he was the class of the race, and Marin, after a careful ride, overhauled P. H. McCarren's Czaraphine, backed down to 11 to 5, and beat her in a drive by two lengths. Czaraphine had early speed, but could not last. She finished a couple of lengths in front of Frank Farrell's King Pepper, 20 to 1, who closed with a powerful rush and took Israelite's measure by a head. E. R. Thomas's Goldsmith, who was a contender for five furlongs, stopped as if in need of another race. He carried heavy support at 16 to 5. The time was 1:15.

ongs, stopped as it in need of another race. He carried heavy support at 16 to 5. The time was 1:15.

Senator McCarren's colors were carried to the front in the fifth race, at a mile. Mad hullah, a lot favorite, who was hammered down to 9 to 10, made all the pace and came home under McDaniel's drive a length and a half in front of lady Ellison, 8 to 1. The latter was gaining at the wind-up and had a safe margin over Joe Yeager's Canteen, also 8 to 1. Ascension, played down to 4 to 1, received a noor ride. The mile was run in 1:42. Roseben's full brother, Blair Athol, carrying W. M. Sheftel's colors, got out of the maiden two-vear-old class in the last race, at five and a half furlongs. He was a favorite at 2 to 1, Burns going to the front with him at the stretch turn and bringing him home an easy winner by two lengths over R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s, Adonis, who was coupled with Noctromo and played down to 5 to 2. H.M. Ziegler's Sandy D., who was framed for a killing, being backed from 20 to 1 to tens, was only a head back. The time was 1:09 1-5: Four feworites won and Burns rode two winners. The summaries:

leorge Wheelcek and Billy Cowen Among the Eleven Whom Cavanagh Excluded Threats and Counter Threats Result in the Layers Squeezing in Line.

SARATOGA, July 31 .- A strike among the bookmakers at the Saratoga racetrack this afternoon was narrowly averted. Friction arese between the layers and the officials of the track owing to the small betting ring. The Mets were anxious to place seventy-one members on the line, but as there was not room enough for this number, as well as the ten outsiders who have been operating in this circle all season, John G. Cavanagh, the nanager of the ring, decided to refuse eleven of the Mets to draw chairs. It was this refusal on the part of Cavanagh accede to the wishes of the Mets that tarted the trouble. When the organization members of the bookmaking fraternity realized that all of their men would not be permitted to offer odds, while the full quota of the invaders nized, they decided to stand together in the natter and not to offer prices unless the necessary space to operate in was granted

The governing committee of the Mets, Charles Heney, George Wheelock, Edward Burke and Sol Lichtenstein, were called by the members to seek the track managers and have the case settled. The governing committee was told to state the case emphatically to the club and insist that unless all of the members could have the space in the ring that they would refuse to make book and would quit in a body.

While this conference and the decision to strike was being discussed not a price was offered on the opening race. Usually the bookmakers begin business forty minutes Stakes, for three-year-olds, nine furlongs, is before post time is called, but to-day not a Met made a chalk mark on his slate before

The first race was scheduled to be called at 2:15. The governing committee met Frank Hitchcock, the president of the assoclation, and Andrew Miller, the treasurer, and H. K. Knapp, one of the stewards and placed their grievance before them The track stewards said that they could not recognize the Mets in any respect, nor did they recognize any bookmakers. They declared that Cav-anagh had stated that there was not enough room for seventy-one Mets and ten outsiders and that that was the reason for a reduction. Among the men who were rejected by Cavanagh were some of the most prominent members of the Mets. These men had drawn stands beyond the limit number of 55, and they were consequently thrown out by the manager of the ring. As it happened these men were George Wheelock, the president of the Metropolitan Turf Association; Billy Cowen, who makes the biggest book in the ring; W. T. Dunn, Henry Wendt, J. Steimer, P. McGrath, M. Dinkelspiel, J. Fay, S. Frank,

P. Morgan and F. Brower.
Wheelock gave the bookmakers' ultimatum to the stewards of the association that they refused to book, and said that the meeting would begin without a price being offered by any of the Mets unless all of the members could do business. Then the governing committee left the stewards to discuss the matter among themselves. Meantime Lawyer Herschfield was in conference with the bookmakers. He told them that they had a perfect right to offer the odds on any part of the track and said: "Make book on the lawn. The association can't stop you as you are protected by the State racing laws."

When this advice reached the ears of one of the members of the club he became en-raged and said: "Make book on the lawn, eh; well, let them try it, we'll show them who controls this racetrack. The Saratoga Racing Association has the most powerful charter of any racecourse in the country, and any man who tries to cause a disturbance or breaks the racing laws in any manner will be locked The bookmakers decided not to accept the advice of the lawyer, and they again saw the stewards of the Jockey Club for a decision in the matter before taking final action. By this time members of the club had decided not onditions put a damper on high scores at the rifle tournament here to-day. The marksmen of the Seventy-first Regiment, however, were undaunted by the elements and carried off the honors in the two events on the program.

In the Old Guard match, ten shots at 200 yards, the Seventy-first team won handly, finishing with eight points more than the first team of the Marine Corps. The scores:

Corbin of the Seventy-first treading close on the heels of Capt. Wells. There were eighteen competitors. The high score at 800 yards was 68, by Lieut. Casey, while Private Short led at 900 yards with 65. The scores of the first five follow: but the track officials will make a new move to-morrow, and it is probable that many of the Mets will be rounded and told that any more talk of strike will cause an open betting ring altogether, without the slightest preference shown to the Mets.

It was a red letter day for the association in the matter of number of bookmakers that operated during the afternoon. There were seventy-one Mets on the line, ten outsiders sprinkled among them in the big circle and sixty on the back line. In the field there were sixty bookmakers displaying the odds—a total of 201, the largest number of men that ever laid prices on any day of racing at this place. but the track of

The Seventy-first Regiment rapid fire and skirmish match, in which the leading places were settled on Saturday concluded the day's sport. The firing for this match began at 3:30 o'clock and the competition was finished in the rain. The final scores were:

Old Caughnawaga, when his fastest rivals were leg weary, moved up rapidly on the outside, where the going was good, and with a rush went to the front in the homestreuch and won with speed in reserve.

The success of Caughnawaga was totally unexpected by his owners, John Sanford and his father, the owner of the Hurricane Stud Farm. Early in the day they had decided to withdraw Caughnawaga and depend solely upon Molly Brant to win the race. As the time for the race approached, they were prevailed upon to permit the old horse to start, as it was thought the contest would make him in better shape for future events, even if he did not win. John Sanford, therefore, declared to win the race with Molly Brant. The mare ran well for a mile, but, like Wild Mint, Tanya, Water Light and Ort Wells, the early pacemakers, tired badly at the end.

Wells, the early pacemakers, tired hadly at the end.

The friends of Senator P H. McCarren were advised early in the day that if the track was heavy his horse Mad Muliah was a certainty for the fifth race. Each sharer of this "provisional tip" was therefore very anxious about the condition of the track, and as each man entered the course he made his way to the fence rail and scanned the soil closely. When the McCarrenites found that it was damp and moist and just suitable to form a soft, cuppy track for Mad Muliah's bad legs and feet, they were jubilant. They waited patiently for the race to come along, and as soon as the odds were posted they made a rush at the bookmakers and backed the horse from 8 to 5 down to 4 to 5. Mad Muliah proved that he was just as good as his admirers said he was, and he led throughout and brought home the money for the Brooklyn Senator's friends without a great effort.

QUAKER CRICKETERS WIN. Marylebone Team Defeated in Exciting Game by 61 Runs.

PHILADELPHIA, July 31. -- An exciting finish and a grand uphill struggle were witnessed on the Merion grounds at Haverfor to-day in the concluding play of the return match between the Gentlemen of Philadelphia and the Marylebone C. C. of England. Philadelphia won by 61 runs, but the game was much closer than this score would indicate, and as the Englishmen never gave up hope the result was not known until the last wicket fell.

The visitors had the worse of the luck so far as the wicket was concerned. To-day it was thoroughly baked after being saturated with rain yesterday, and as a result it was crusty and took an enormous amount of work. J. A. Lester took full advantage of this, and when he went on to bowl after J. B. King, P. H. Clark and W. N. Morice, he had the Englishmen soon tied up. They was eventually rewarded with an analysis of 7 wickets for 33 runs.
When play was resumed this morning the Philadelphians' innings was quickly brought to a close by W. N. Morice being run out for 4. with the total at 239. The Englishmen had tried seven bowlers during the innings, of tried seven bowlers during the innings, of whom H. C. McDonell, with 4 wickets for 85 runs, was the most successful. G. G. Napier took 2 for 72 and F. A. H. Henley 2 for 38.

Marylebone started its innings with M. W. Payne and L. J. Moon. Both batsmen played carefully and well and each added 22 as his share of the total. Strenuous efforts were then made by H. J. Wyld, V. A. S. Stow and E. W. Mann to hold up their wickets, but at this time J. A. Lester got in his fine work and soon had them all tied up. K. O. Hunter and F. A. H. CONSECUTIVE VICTORY NO. 11.

NEW YORKS GET WINNING LEAD EARLY AGAINST REDS.

Good Day for the Champions, They Gaining on Pittsburgs, Who Are White-washed by the Brooklyns-St. Louis Beat Bostons and Chicagos Win.

The New York Nationals increased their pennant chances, which never have been aught but bright, by winning their eleventh consecutive victory yesterday. The Cincinnatis were once more their victims. The New Yorks, however, are still a long way from their record of last year, when they won eighteen straight games. But that is ir elevant. They gained twelve points on the Pittsburgs, who, to the astonishment of the baseball community, were shut out in a ten inning game by the Brooklyns. Scanlon, a Pittsburg castoff, had the pleasure of pitching against his former associates. The Chicagos squeezed out a victory over the Phila-delphias, and the St. Louis Cardinals beat Boston without much trouble. The Brooklyns climbed out of last place. The results: New York, 6; Cincinnati, 2.

CINCINNATI, July 31.—Outbatted, but at no time outplayed, the Champions heiped themselves to another slice of the Cincinnaticake this afternoon. The visitors did just the right time and their opponents never did. Ames was hit oftener than Chech, but with championship support and cool nerve he closed up tighter than a clam whenever the Reds seemed about to rush in with a few runs. 'As in previous games superior steadiness in the infield was a big factor for the New Yorks. Three of the visitors' half dozen hits were made in the second and with these the Reds stirred in a couple of bad errors on the part of Steinfeldt and Corcoran, and four good runs were the result. Dahlen started the trouble by belting a single to center. He lost no time in stealing second. Devlin worked his way to first on balls, and both runners moved a peg nearer home on Strang's sacrifice. Steinfeldt made a miserable fumble of Strang's sacrifice, Dahlen scoring on a misplay and Devlin reaching third. Ames lined a single to center, Devlin skating across the rubber. Browne forced Bresnahan at third. Donlin sent a screeching double down the left foul line, which brought Ames and Browne home. McGann was spared on Corcoran's foozle, but when he tried to steal second Street's shove to Corcoran killed him. The score:

Stone of the St. Louis team was the first American Leaguer to make a hundred hits. Armbruster, the new Boston American catcher, is making good and has batted for .368 since he joined the Hubbers.

The Hubbers.

Pitchers of the Augusta team of the South Atlantic League have shut out opponents without a hit four times this season.

Griffith wanted to play another double header with the Clevelands to-day, but the latter are crippled and would not consent.

Commy has played every position on the New pled and would not consent.

Conroy has played every position on the New York American team this season, the battery excepted, and played them well.

Including the three games won in Cincinnati on their last trip there, McGraw's champions have won ten straight games from the Reds.

Washington is said to have the tallest outfield in baseball in Hueisman, Jones and Anderson. Kelley, Seymour and Sebring are not so short. Heiley, Seymour and sebring are not so snort.

The New York Nationals have a fair chance of winning every series this season. Thus far the Pitisburgs are the only team to hold them level.

"The Chicagos seem able to get more men around the bases on a smaller percentage of base hits than any other team in the American League," says Connic Mack.

Connie Mack.

With Bill Bradley and Cotton Turner guarding the left flank of the Cleveland infield it is like digging through a stone wall to push a hit through that sile of the inner defense.

The New York Americans lead their league in shut-outs administered. They have blanked opponents an even dozen times. The New Yorks also lead the American League in home runs and dotthe plays.

The annual baseball game between the New York Police and' New York Letter Carriers' teams whitake place this year on Saturday. Aug. 12. at the Polic Grounds. Deputy Police Commissioner Lindsley is organizing the police team, and as there are several former semi-professional "stars" in "the finest' he expects to get together fully as strong an aggregation as that which so creditably represented their department last year. The letter carriers, while not boasting any bright, particular "stars" are nevertheless putting up a good game of ball this year, and will make the "cops" hustle in order to win. During the game there wil be a double concert by the New York Letter Carriers Band and the New York Police Band. The proceeds of the game will be divided between the Police Relief Fund.

More novel puzzles for baseball umpires and enthusiasts have arisen this season than in many previous years, but it remained for Umpire McCarthy of the American League to propound the deepest riddle in a game at the White Stocking park last week. For the benefit of those who did not see it, the play occurred when Green stole second base and was awarded the decision in a close finish with the ball. Monte Cross of the Athletics, who was the receiving end of the play, where the ball to the ground toward Umpire McCarthy, who was cailing the base decisions. The umpire caught the ball on the bound and held it wille quelling the kickers. As a matter of fact, it is doubtful if his doing so made any difference, as Green could not have scrambed to his feet and advanced to third before some of the opposing fielders got the ball, his that does not invalidate the fact that McCarthy had no right to stop a ball which was in play. It would be interesting to know what would have been done if Green had started for third while McCarthy held the ball. Monter stand and held in the rules to cover such a point, unless it comes under the bl

RUHLIN IN TRIM.

Akron Giant to Be Matched Against Hart

If He Beats McCormick. Gus Ruhlin is training very hard for his coming contest with Jack McCormick, which is to be decided at Colma, Cal., on Aug. 11. The Akron Giant, according to a letter from his manager, Billy Madden, was never in better condition. This means a whole lot, for Ruhlin is a pugilist who trains faithfully and tries to be in the best of trim. Ruhlin is preparing for McCormick at the St. Julien Golden Gate station, near the Oakland race-track. The place is fitted up with a modern gymnasium, the roads are fine and Ruhlin finds considerable pleasure in taking a number of spins around the Oakland track. Madden is very confident of his man's success

"This fellow McCormick may surprise a lot of good judges," says Madden. "He is a strong young fellow, willing and apt. He is under the care of excellent tutors and is plodding away at his work like a veteran. But Gus is not doing any worrying. He is glad, he says, that McCormick will be able to put up something in the line of a fight. Any puglist likes to earn his money as easily as he can. But Gus wants to give the Colma people a good run for their money. The club must realize that McCormick is all right, or else Jimmy Coffroth, the matchmaker, would not have made the match.
